

Initial requirements	Documented knowledge of the English language at the B2 level. Students understand the importance of the main themes of the message contained in complex texts on concrete and abstract topics, including understanding of discussions on technical topics in the field of their specialty. Students can communicate fluently and spontaneously enough to have a normal conversation with native speakers without stressing either party; they can formulate clear and detailed oral or written statements on a wide range of topics, as well as explain their position on the issues under discussion, considering the advantages and disadvantages of different solutions.
Course objectives and skills developed	Within 30 hours of classes students develop language skills in English at the C1 level in accordance with the European Description of Language Education in terms of general and academic language, achieving the learning outcomes listed below. Writing: Students can express themselves in understandable and well-structured texts, can describe in words visual information expressed in a graph or chart, precisely presenting the required information. They can express themselves freely through a letter, highlighting the points that are most important to them. Students can adjust the style of the text to the potential reader. Reading: Students understand long and complex informational and academic texts, recognizing their distinctive stylistic and linguistic features. Can understand specialized articles and longer technical manuals, even those unrelated to their own field. Students are able to understand texts whose authors represent specific positions and views on academic life, art, artistic techniques and health. Pronunciation: Students are able to adequately pronounce English words and sentences in terms of word/sentence stress, intonation, natural flow and rhythm of speech. Listening: Students understand longer statements even when they are not clearly structured and when the logical relationships are only implied and not expressed directly. They understand spoken language in TV programs and movies. Students are able to understand texts whose authors represent specific positions and views on academic life, art, artistic techniques and health.
Educational content	Lexical material: vocabulary related to topics such as academic and professional qualifications (pp. 8-9), university, college enrolment (pp. 10-14), psychology of colour, art (pp. 18-21), phrasal verbs (pp. 22), health, medicine, drug testing (pp. 30-34), verb-noun collocations (pp. 35), history of art and artistic techniques (pp. 40-43), verb collocations (pp. 44). Grammar material: repetition of Past Simple, Present Perfect, and Past Perfect (page 17), articles (page 27), quantitative expressions for countable and uncountable nouns (page 39), objective clauses (page 49). Language skills: Developing listening, reading and speaking skills based on the lexical material from the given chapters; describing simple graphs and charts. Pronunciation: sentence stress, intonation, elision, emphasis (pp. 15); sentence linking and pausing (p. 36); speech rate and rhythm, natural flow (pp. 47).
Literature	Complete IELTS Bands 6.5-7.5 Student's Book (Cambridge English), Units 1-4 (Students work on textbooks only, workbook is not obligatory) and additional materials prepared by the teacher (recordings, videos, own materials from other sources) tailored to the program of activities and the needs of the group.
Students' work input	30 hours of classes + 30 hours of students' own work (including homework, preparation for classes, preparation for tests) students receive 2 ECTS
Passing requirements	<ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1) class attendance (2 unexcused absences are allowed) 2) completion of all short class tests 3) doing all homework 4) active participation in classes 5) obtaining a positive assessment of the tests (written and oral parts), including in the written part, skills such as listening, reading and writing as well as grammar and lexical tasks, and in the oral part, the ability to speak (weight of the test mark in the final grade: 50%)